

Human Experience Campaigns

New Hire & Termination (lifecycle)

Campaign Overview

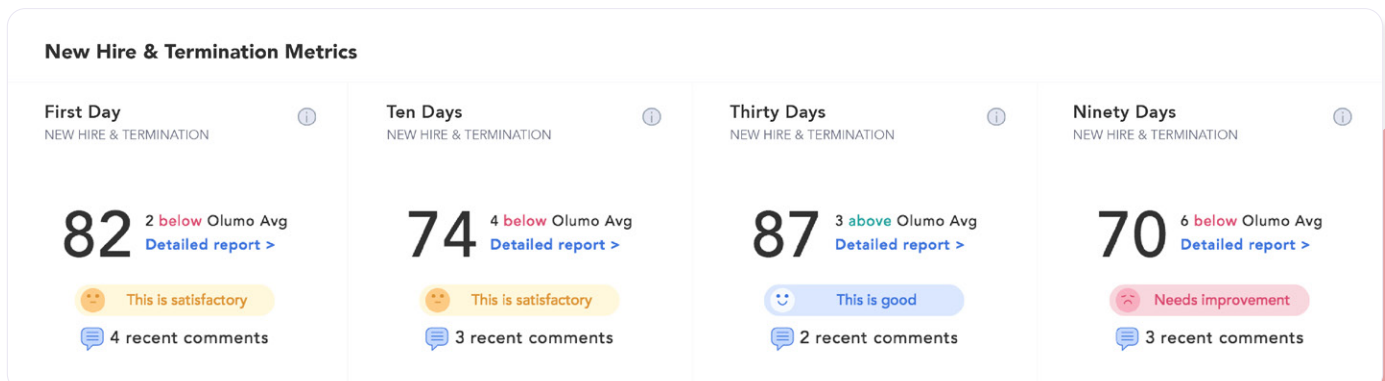

Your onboarding processes and procedures create the first and lasting impression of your organization. Identifying the effectiveness of your onboarding and termination processes on a team, location or department basis does not need to be difficult. Olumo helps organizations to measure the effectiveness of their onboarding and exit processes as we gather feedback from your people surrounding their new hire and termination experience.

Methodology

Olumo engages with your people through weekly, anonymous, Human-to-Human conversations to listen and learn about their experience at work. Feedback is quantified into real time visual dashboards and actionable insights that deliver predictive insights surrounding organizational performance.

Benefits

- Identify Good and Bad processes and procedures
- Understand the impact of your processes on your people.
- Know what actions to take based on conversational feedback
- View the impact of your actions in real time
- Identify what's working and what's not, iterate as needed

Additional Campaign Metrics: Six Months, & Exit